UNERRING ACCURACY

» SkyCaddie's very own course mappers pace out every detail of a golf course to ensure that everything from distances to contours are pinpoint accurate on your SX400.

EASY TO USE

» With its four-inch HD touchscreen, the SX400 is a piece of cake to use. Its ultra-quick interface and comprehensive features make selecting the right club almost inevitable on every shot.

» Quite a simple yet amazing story from SkyCaddie here. The new SX400 delivers the powerful features found in the awesome SX500 model but in a more compact size.

I could simply stop there for those of you that know how brilliant a piece of kit the SX500 is but let's go into some more detail.

With its four-inch HD touchscreen the SX400 joins the larger SX500 (five-inch screen) in delivering an ultra-quick and comprehensive means to measure yardages while providing the best possible view of every hole you play.

Like the SX500, the new SX400 includes a host of patented technologies and stroke-saving features developed by SkyCaddie to help you shoot lower scores.

For approach shots to the green, SkyCaddie's Pin Position feature provides the ability to get distances to today's pin positions while also getting all the benefits of SkyCaddie's detailed IntelliGreen and IntelliGreen Pro maps.

Using the SX400's Pin Position feature is a doddle: you simply customise the pin settings by entering the day's pin sheet or pin zone information into your SkyCaddie to get accurate yardages for the day's pin position.

Let's be honest, how often do you under-club hitting into the green? Regularly, I'm guessing. To combat this common problem, the SX400's at-a-glance yardages to the front and back of the green directly over the pin really help you to choose the right club.

Because SkyCaddie mappers have already paced out every detail of the green ahead of you, the SX400 shows you its exact shape, depth and major contours on the green from anywhere on the course, filling you with confidence to hit your best shot to the green.

The SX400, like its bigger brother, is a work of pure genius. Both devices ensure that you have precise yardages from one of the most-trusted distance-measurement brands in golf. It is the handheld GPS device that offers absolutely everything.
